

A New FREE Innovative Learning Platform from FCRR

ACADEMY

FLORIDA CENTER for READING RESEARCH

"The launch of The Academy marks a milestone in our journey to not only advance reading through science, but also translate scientific discoveries in a way that promotes reading, language, and literacy for all learners. We believe this platform will empower educators, families, and communities."

-Dr. Nicole Patton Terry

Director, Florida Center for Reading Research

Key Features of The Academy

Free Mini-Lessons and Courses

Feeling overwhelmed by all that's out there? Access a variety of brief lessons and longer courses designed to help you use the many free, evidence-based materials highlighted on fcrr.org. Each resource was made with you in mind. The Academy will help you use them.

Mini-Lessons: Quick Tips for Busy Educators

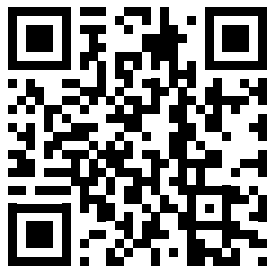

Looking for small nuggets of information to share? The Academy offers brief 15-minute lessons that can be completed at one's own pace. Literacy coaches, school leaders, and providers can also use these lessons in their own coaching and professional learning sessions with their teachers or literacy events with families and community members. Whether individually or in groups, these lessons provide practical tips to support ongoing learning.

Long Courses: Job-Embedded Professional Learning

Looking for a deeper dive? The Academy houses everything you need to provide face-to-face professional learning opportunities in your school, district, and community. These long courses are designed to foster expertise in reading instruction, literacy coaching, and literacy leadership, and may even contribute towards endorsements or recertification (training and state approval may be required to access some courses).

The Academy serves as a central hub for educators, school leaders, families, and community partners seeking practical, user-friendly materials. The goal is simple - to encourage widespread use of these free valuable tools in classrooms, schools, homes, and other settings-anywhere that children are learning.
